

EQUIPMENT

We can develop and supply complete systems to synthesize a specified material with required output. This Section presents information about the methods of synthesis we use, features of our techniques, and materials that can be synthesized using the equipment we offer.

Our special feature is that we offer highly-automated equipment—our systems do not need to be supervised by a qualified operator to produce the material. With any system we supply the technology to synthesize the specified material, and we perform the commissioning of the equipment at customer's site and train customer's personnel to operate the system.

Equipment for material synthesis

Laser and optical systems

Oil & gas laboratory equipment

